

Making helpless to me o Meher you have become indifferent
Making helpless to me o ^{dear} Meher you have become indifferent.

What should I do tell me dear, my heart is now broken giving suffering in my share you have become indifferent

I follow you, I love you and you behave like enemy

you have put me in despair, you have become indifferent

Thorn you give me and rose flowers you give worldly people

How can I say ^{you are} this fair you have become indifferent?

I am tired, fed up and this path is full of fire.

How can I pass through it dear you have become indifferent

Dust is weeping, Dust is crying, wailing at your door

But, merciless you look dear you have become indifferent

I bow down and you kick me, this is my plight

I think this is fortune rare ^{Bham} you have become indifferent
